The Tenant's
Voice

A free digital platform designed to support social housing tenants

We are developing The Tenants' Voice, an innovative new platform to help social housing tenants. It aims to help you:

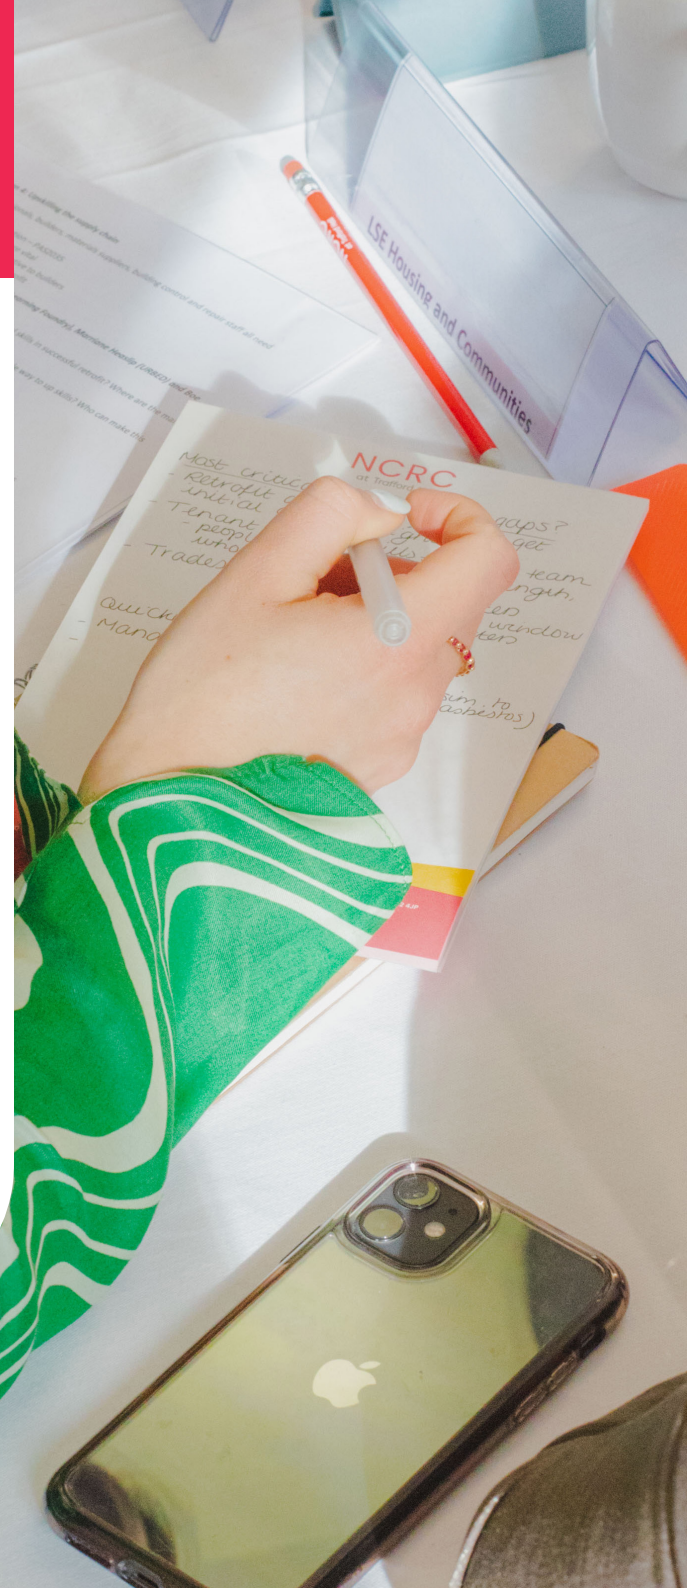

- Understand their rights in relation to a housing issue.
- Get clear guidance on what to do next.
- Communicate more effectively with their landlord.
- Feel more confident about raising concerns and taking the next steps.

We want to make sure this platform is shaped by the people who may use it, which is why we are inviting tenants to get involved.

Shape the future

Your feedback will help shape the future tool, plus you could win a £100 Amazon voucher.

Why you should get involved

Help us to create something that could:

- Make it easier for tenants to explain housing issues clearly.
- Help people feel more confident when contacting their landlord .
- Improve access to clear information about tenant rights.
- Make sure tenant voices are heard from the start.

How you can get involved

The first phase of the project is where we listen to tenants, learn from real experiences, and understand what would make the biggest difference.

We want to hear about:

- The challenges tenants face when trying to get help.
- What makes communication with landlords difficult.
- What kind of information or support would be most useful.

Your feedback will help us decide what the tool should do and how it should work.

There will be different ways to get involved, including; surveys, questionnaires, feedback sessions, discussion groups and workshops.

We want to hear from a wide range of tenants with different experiences and backgrounds.

Your voice matters

This project is about creating something useful, practical and easy to use for tenants.

You do not need any specialist knowledge or experience - we simply want to hear from people with lived experience as tenants.
